This analysis was created for you fully automatically and individually based on your analysis query to www.infonitor.de. Editing the report, including creation of diagrams, tables and word analyses automatically created by the NEWBASE analysis software of NEWBASE GmbH.

The maximum number of articles analysed depends on the hit lists created by GoogleNews (news.google.com). The period covered by this analysis can vary from one day to one month, depending of the total number of hits for the search string.

NEWBASE GmbH does not have a business relationship with GoogleNews (news.google.com) and solely uses the metadata of the hit lists including their links. At no point during the analysis process are the articles and reports behind the hit lists accessed as full text. The hit lists provided by NEWBASE ("blue values in the data tables") are generated based on the links provided GoogleNews (news.google.com). These are Deep Links in terms of the so-called Paperboy decision of 17 July 2003 (BGHZ 156, 1) of the Federal Court of Justice.
